Freshman president, senator elections to be Tuesday

by Nick Hurlburt SGA Publicity Director

Elections for the 1998-99 Student Senate and this year's Fresh-man Class President will be held in the Commons next Tuesday, September 22. All on-campus and commuter students are encour aged to select the person that will be representating them in the Student Government Association. Six freshmen are hoping to represent the freshman class as Fresh-man Class President. One of the following students will be responsible for the freshman class budget and will be the main representative of the Class of Nicholas Berning, a member of the Class of 2002 from Cincinnati, Ohio, is hoping to represent his class as Freshman Class President. Nicholas has had such leadership experiences as being captain of his high school basket. National Honor Society. Club, and National Honor Society. If elected, he would "make it so that the Student Body had a say in what goes on in the development and planning for the class." Nicholas would let no one's ideas be overlooked.

Deming 2 resident Jay Bradford proudly admits his role as one of the girls in the "History of Rose" assembly. Jay plans to bring more to the SGA than his acting skills; if elected, he would hold class trips or parties in an effort to bring the class closer together. Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Jay will-be an outspoken voice for the freshman class and would like to assist those students "who are still feeling the Rose prick." Jay's high school activities included Senior Class Vice President and captain of the track team, as well as a letterman in cross-country, peer ministry program, and National Honor Society.

Wilson's main goal as Class President is "to continue the tradition and excellence of this institute." He sees many problems being addressed by the freshman class, and would aim to come to solu-tions on all of them individually. Wilson wishes to continue his involvement in extra-currricular activites at Rose and will strive to represent every member of the freshman class

Ashley Fields, a Dillsboro, Indiana, native was quite active in high school student government, organizing the 1997 Indiana State Student Council convention and raising $30,000 to make the event a reality. She has also organized dances, student/faculty projects, and several community service tasks. As Freshman Class President, Ashley would like to work munity service projects, dances, or activities suggested by others. Ashley currently plays on the womens' soccer team and is interwomen's soccer team and is inter-ested in SWE, SAB, and the SCUBA club. Ashley feels she has a good grasp on leadership skills and will "always listen to what others have to say, give ahundred-and-ten percent towards planning each activity, and be a beneficial communicator for the students.

Thomas Lautenschlager has had four years of experience in his high school student council and hopes to continue his leadership as Freshman Class President. His high school activities included FCA, marching band, and Spanish Club, and he was the captain of the football team. Thomas would like to start new activities at Rose and would ask the opinions of other freshmen. NASA design competition gives students special opportunity

by Mike Oder Thorn News Reporter

An annual NASA competition will give Rose-Hulman students an oppor-tunity to conceive, design, fabricate and fly a reduced gravity experiment. The nation-wide competition allows up to 48 teams to put their experi-ments on board the Johnson Space Center's KC-135A reduced gravity aircraft. There will be one competition this fell each and the space. this fall and another in spring. Teams consist of up to four students, a supervising faculty member, and a profes-sional journalist. Along with the opportunity to have their experiments on board, each student will have an opportunity to be aboard the aircraft themselves

Any students interested must act quickly. Letters of intent are due Octo-ber 23, and proposals will be due by November 20. The winning teams will be announced on December 18, and their flights will occur in March of 1999

The official competition guidelines are available at http:// www.tsgc.utexas.edu/floatn/. The NASA Reduced Gravity Student Flight Opportunities program is Flight Opportunities program is administered by the Texas Space Grant Consortium

Indiana has a Space Grant Consor tium of its own, and Rose-Hulman is one of the Consortium's newest mem-bers. Dr. Barry Farbrother, head of the Electrical and Computer Engineering Department, applied for the Consor-tium in November and recently received access to its funds. These funds will go to the Aerial Robotics Club, the Flying Club, and the and the Explore Engineering program.

In addition to providing money, the Consortium provides valuable oppor-tunities to students, including NASA Academy Programs and internships. In fact, three students from Rose-Hul-man received internships with NASA last year. The Rose-Hulman NCAA Rifle Team is holding tryouts this week for potential members for a team that last year alone ranked 19th overall in the nation. This year the team members return to a brand new practicing arena.

many years, the team has For finally years, the team in-settled for practicing in our dilapi-dating auditorium. Using money received for building the SRC and Cook Stadium, the school recognized nized the tremendous effort put forth and, thus, allotted money for a new practicing arena. Returning this year, the rifle team is presented with a beautifully constructed 10-point firing range located directly under the new stadium stands. The team also received three storage rooms and an observation area.

"It's cool, it's nice, it's down ere," exclaimed team member, senior Mark Sweigart.

'It's pretty impressive! It's better than anything we had before...we never had anything [like this] before," added senior John Collier, the rifle team captain.

Collier said the room has many great features, such as better light-ing, ten trolleys or carriers for the target boards, and even a rubber back board to stop the bullet.

As for the condition of the firing arena, Collier is waiting for another coat of paint to go on the wall. But aside from that, Collier said the inside is so much bigger than he could have imagined.

The new range is a boost of confidence for the team and saves them a lot of time. Normally, the team must practice at two different fidence locations: the auditorium and the Shooting Match, a firing range in town. To practice at the Shooting Match, the team had to pack their guns, tools, and equipment and drive a half-hour one way. With the new range, the members will have more time to hone their skills. Collier commented, "It should be a good year. I hope so...It's my lost end!" last one!"

The new range also allows the team to host several home tourna-ments. There will be an Alumni Match on September 26 in con-junction with Homecoming. There will also be a home match against Ohio State on October 24 and oth-ers with Missouri-KC and Xavier. The Rifle team competes in over 10 competitions annually and the season runs from fall to the end of winter quarter.

Looking for something to do this weekend? Maybe a way to get off campus and have some fun? Well, not one, but two organiza-tions at Rose-Hulman have the means to satisfy your desire. This weekend, Circle K and Alpha Phi Omega, two community service organizations, have a total of four service projects in which anyone in the Rose community is welcome to participate.

Starting Friday, at 5:30 p.m., in e circle drive in front of Hadley Hall, both groups are meeting to head out into the community. Alpha Phi Omega will be helping the United Way's Happiness Bag with a social event. Fraternity rebuilds dock on Speed Lake

by Mike Reavey Thorn News Reporter

Over the summer, Rose-Hulman fraternity Pi Kappa Alpha, a.k.a. the Pikes, demonstrated their commitment to community service by rebuilding the dock on Speed Lake. About ten brothers spent about three hours working on the project. They took up the old dock and brought it back to the Pike house. They then put in new supports and laid down new planks. The school paid for the restoration, but the Pikes organized the project.

Virgo (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) It's hard to find good help these days. In fact, it's all your fault. People will start hating you for this. However, the joke will be on them when you're appointed governor of the world!

How is it possible for you to have so much luck? I mean, first you get two free tacos from Taco Casita, then you walk into the Joker Tavern and get a free bottle of Old Milwaukee. Wait 'til next week!

Scorpio (Oct. 24 - Nov. 21)

Showered lately? At Rose, some may ask that question a lot, but in fact, it's a very good one. You know that metal thing on the wall with the water coming out of it, stand in front of it every now and then.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) For the sum For the guys: be careful not to eat too much this weekend, you have tests coming up next week. For the gals: don't polish your toe nails, at least when driving. For the dead: you're dead, quit reading this.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)

Life brings in such a cornucopia of pleasure. Well, except for terrorists. They have the hardest time figuring out which gun to take on the plane, let alone what shoes to wear.

R Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) Tired of the same old food? Try this special combination of treats: mix together an egg, three cans of tuna, drained, and a pound cake. Throw at unsuspecting Resident Assistant. Run like hell.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20) They say, make good pets this time of year. Since you're a water sign, you should go on a beer binge this weekend, while soaking in a hot tub. But first, tell us where you'd like to be buried

Aries (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19)

Check out the garage sales going on in West Terre Haute this weekend. I'm sure you could find a pair of polyester pants to go with that stunning hairdo you have. If that doesn't work, walk around naked.

you this next week. For starters, you'll find yourself surrounded by gallons of milk and moonshine. It's a seller's market out there, so take advantage of the opportunity.

Don't get worried because your zodiac sign sounds like a bad disease. Instead, worry about why you're stuck in Terre Haute for the next 8 months. That should keep you pretty occupied.

Call your parents this weekend, they miss you. Also, ask them for some money. Say it's an emergency, mention a party and the words "it broke," and then say you have to go and immediately hang up.

Thorn Athlete of the Week

Eric Hyten, Football

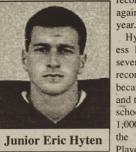

by Don Cole Thorn Sports Editor

Eric Hyten has not missed a game since he suited up for his first game in September of 1996. Since then, he has rushed for over 2,000 yards and passed for almost 3,000 in Scott Duncan's option offense.

Hyten was again in top form during Rose's historic first ever SCAC conference win last Saturday, leading the team in rushing with 75 yards on sixteen attempts, and throwing for 204 yards on fifteen completions.

So far this season, Hyten has continued to bear the brunt of the triple option offense, rushing for a total of 179 yards and throwing for 239, completing 45.2% of his passes.

Last season was a banner year for the junior quarterback, when he passed for 1,550 yards, the fifth-highest season total in school history. He also set a game record with fifty attempts against Wabash the same

The Rose Thorn · Sports · September 18, 1998

Hyten's rushing prow ess has also earned him several places in the record books. In 1996, he became the first freshman and the first quarterback in school history to rush for a 1,000 yards, earning him the team's Offensive Player of the Year award.

Hyten also holds the seventh best rushing game in school history with a 204 yard effort against the University of the South in 1996. His 1,172 yards that year were fourth best in school history.

In 1997, Hyten made some dents in the passing portion of the books. His fourteen touchdowns were third best in school history, while his 123 completions were fifth best.

Perhaps the only thing that has been disappointing for Hyten has been the team's two straight 3-7 seasons, something that he, Duncan, and the team hope to change with a change of conference this year
