Disclaimer: Archived issues of the Rose-Hulman yearbook, which were compiled by students, may contain stereotyped, insensitive or inappropriate content, such as images, that reflected prejudicial attitudes of their day—attitudes that should not have been acceptable then, and which would be widely condemned by today's standards. Rose-Hulman is presenting the yearbooks as originally published because they are an archival record of a point in time. To remove offensive material now would, in essence, sanitize history by erasing the stereotypes and prejudices from historical record as if they never existed.

One Thing Certain: SES

"1969? That was the year that the Rose "family" adopted 372 high school graduates and brought them to Terre Haute, wasn't it?" To those who had been associated with Rose Polytechnic Institute a number of years, the class of 1973 probably appeared little different from classes before them except for the large size. To the 372 high school graduates Rose was the first opportunity to make the "world" theirs.

"What's the name of the baseball field? Wrong, go find out!! What is the name painted on the smokestack? Wrong again! Where is the geodetic survey marker located, and what year was it taken? You don't know that one either! I'm glad your freshman class is large because you might be able to scare up enough intelligence to put one of you through Rose."

Freshman-sophomore hazing with beanies, garters and six-inch rulers made its last appearance in the fall of 1969. Mass "lakings" and water balloon fights across the lake occurred regularly for the first month or so, and few freshmen walked on the "senior" walk.
Building the bonfire for Homecoming was another part of the freshman-sophomore rivalry. With restrictions being placed on the number of ties and the size of the bonfire, the Class of '73 expected the task to be a "breeze." Two weeks before Homecoming the bonfire was twenty-eight ties high, and in spite of continual rain, definite progress had been accomplished.

The sophomores had been patiently waiting to see if they could help the fledgling students in the bonfire project and in an unguarded moment demolished most of the bonfire. The freshmen of '69 never made the same strategic error again and rebuilt the bonfire in time for Homecoming festivities. One fact became clear to all of the freshmen: SES.

Fall sports were also an important part of the freshman activities. The football team reached the first .500 season in many years (4-4), with the freshmen providing a majority of the players. The cross country squad finished 5-2, with six freshmen lettering and a total of eight participating.
Homecoming festivities provided the first opportunities for the freshmen to taste the fruits of what Rose Poly had to offer socially. October 18 found the bonfire being lit and the coronation of a queen — followed by perhaps the greatest concert ever given at Rose with the “Association.” Though the football team lost the next day, few could forget pushing Rosie around the cinder track.

Academic endeavors were becoming more and more important to the freshmen. To assist the Class of ’73 in budgeting time, a chart was given out in order to follow the expenditure of time for one week. After filling out the sheet the first night, it was appropriately discarded until Freshmen Orientation period.

Freshmen Orientation. None will ever forget though all wish they could. If the time sheets ever indicated anything to the freshmen of 1969, it was that the hour for “Frosh ‘O’” was best spent in sleeping. The first item decided each quarter was the days on which Freshmen Orientation would be cut.

Winter sports proved to be a source of continual satisfaction and surprise for the Class of ’73. The basketball team, with a number of freshmen looking for a starting job, had a successful season (16-13) and participated in its first post-season tournament. Snow-cycling on the lake also provided a new and exciting winter activity until one of the freshmen made a miscue. He was the last one to snow-cycle.
Two major events occurred during the winter of the first year at Rose. For good or bad, a decision on open rush for fraternities was made after several weeks of contemplation. Ralph Nader gave a thought (and laughter)-provoking lecture concerning the plight of the American consumer. A packed auditorium greeted the noted consumer advocate.

Marked improvement in the varsity sports continued in the Spring, with the track, tennis and baseball teams moving forward with "new blood" provided by the Class of 1973. Track and field, which had been down for more than 10 years, finished with a 5-5 mark. Baseball was 12-7 and went to the NAIA, while tennis and golf were 3-5 and 4-3 respectively.

The first open-air concert took place on May 20 with "Frijid Pink" providing music from a platform in the lake. With this late night concert and the dancing on the beach, the freshmen year was essentially completed. The next year would bring more changes to their lives, but the Class of 1973 had had enough for one year—CECIL WHITAKER.
Dynamic change? At Rose?!! Yet, the academic year of 1970-71 can best be described as one of experimental ventures, changing attitudes, and physical improvements to the Rose campus. Some aspects returned to their pre-sophomore existence while other changes remain even to the senior year.

The sounds of suitcases snapping shut and cars speeding off the campus on Friday afternoons had long been associated with the Rose Polytechnic "scene." In an attempt to erect a social "Berlin Wall" for Rose, the Student Government created the Student Activities Board to stop the mass exodus. Implementation of the cultural and social program of "Big-Name" entertainment and numerous dances proved to be difficult. Few of the students realized or responded to support the activities organized by the board, proving that social ignorance is bliss.

Perhaps the most exclusive dance ever to be held on the Rose Polytechnic campus occurred on October 9, 1970. The sophomore and freshman classes sponsored a dance at the Hulman Memorial Union Building which was attended by eighteen couples at a cost of $15.28/couple. One of those in attendance that evening was later prompted to ask, "What If They Gave a Dance and Nobody Came?" This will probably remain one of the unanswered mysteries of Rose.

However, football continued to be a crowd-pleaser as the team offered plenty of Saturday afternoon entertainment, finishing 3-5-1 for the season.

Fall also saw the Rose harriers continue their winning ways in a 6-3 season.
Self-paced physics, a unique attempt for student responsibility, appeared as a radical departure from traditional course structure. Students studied the material and took chapter tests when they felt competent in the material, having three chances to pass. While self-paced physics seemed the ideal classroom situation, several fatal flaws existed in the program that contributed to its demise in the spring of 1971.

Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology appeared, and Rose Polytechnic Institute disappeared on January 7, 1971, after ninety-seven years of tradition. What happened? After many years of being a benefactor of the Institute, the Hulman family received due recognition. The land where Rose is located had been donated by the Hulmans, and on this particular day it was announced that Rose was to be the recipient of the Hulman Foundation. The decision to rename the Institute was greeted with mixed emotions that winter and spring. In an attempt to mediate the controversy one Rose graduate wrote, “What’s in a name? That which we call a Rose by any other name would smell as sweet (Shakespeare, ’95).”
The “Student in the Home” program sponsored by the Terre Haute Chamber of Commerce and the Rose-Hulman Student Government made use of an evening dinner as a vehicle to promote understanding between students and Terre Haute residents. Whether better understanding was achieved or not, the students agreed that some of the best tasting meals eaten during the four years were consumed on Sunday, February 21, 1971.

Name changing was so common during the sophomore year that nothing seemed “sacred.” The Institute Inklings was transformed into The Thorn in an attempt to dramatize the school paper’s change in format. The Thorn would from that point in time strive to be more critique-oriented and less straight news reporting as a newspaper.

There was little change on the basketball floor, however, as a solid lineup posted their second winning season for the Class of ’73, finishing 13-12. This was perhaps the most exciting year of Rose basketball for our class, with many close games and good play.

Spring brought warmer weather and dramatic changes to the physical structure of Rose as the world’s largest martini glass was completed, and Crapo Hall construction began. Both physical changes brought praise and criticism, depending upon one’s sources. Most of the Rose family just accepted the water tower and the construction of Crapo Hall as part of the transition during 1970-71.

Spring also brings outdoor sports and for Rose this was a fruitful spring. The ever-improving track team went from 5-5 to a 9-
3 season our sophomore year. But the thin-clads were not to be outdone by golf and tennis teams which posted 6-1-1 and 5-3 seasons respectively. The baseball team came very close to the .500 mark, finishing 8-10.

Internal change in student attitudes has always been difficult to pinpoint and trace. The school year of 1970-71 marked a significant and subtle attitude change. An increased number of editorial comments concerned with social unrest, racial tension, and political affairs appeared in the school newspaper. The observatory artist dramatized the new Rose engineer which would become more prevalent.

Dynamic change? At Rose?!? Never! Well, maybe when the members of the Class of 1973 were sophomores.---CECIL WHITAKER
1971-1972 marks the silver year of our class. With only two years before graduation and the worst years behind us, a mood of camaraderie and assurance set the junior theme.

By now, the Class of '73 is deep into their majors and graduation is a sure thing. Just occasionally there is a doubting moment or two.

Most faces in the class are familiar ones and the list of people you say “hi” to in the hall has grown much longer. The quiet fellows and the big talkers have either proven themselves or are still quiet or still talking.

One of the biggest worries of every junior is the tight job market. Remember watching the seniors stand in long lines to get on interview sheets and crying about “kiss off” letters? Remember the number of people who suddenly decided to start improving their grade point average?

It seemed that during our junior year many of your “bumming around buddies” with girl friends back home were no longer able to “bum” around, while many more were announcing a definite date. The rest who had studied on weekends began to look for dates to those home games.

The calendar of the junior year was marked by many exciting and different events.

Remember going to your humanities class and not seeing any of the faces from last year? It was soon obvious the proverbial “easy A” was in deep jeopardy.
The sports program continued to be dominated by our athletic class.

The Cross-Country team, with four class members, roared to a 7-1 season, losing only to Butler. The harriers placed a very respectable 7 of 14 in Little State to round out a very good year.

Although not the best season on record (3-6), the football team made every game an exciting one and shared a great “Esprit de Corps” among teammates. Perhaps the most exciting game in Rose football history was the 18-16 upset of undefeated Iowa Wesleyan at Homecoming. This proved the potential of the team and made it one of the best 3-6 teams ever.

At Homecoming, juniors just watched the bonfire this year, no longer eligible for the Freshman-Sophomore rivalry. Pretty Debbie Noe presided as Homecoming Queen and a Hawaiian troupe provided the evening entertainment.
Winter brought on a political and social surge. INPIRG made a brief, but well publicized attempt for recognition. And a political unknown, Fred Oak, made a strong play for Student Government president, but came up short.

The basketball team, under the guidance of Coach John Mutchner, financed a trip to Europe over Christmas vacation. Playing European and Armed Forces teams, the Rose courtmen had their name on all the wire services and received mention in Sports Illustrated. The team finished under .500 with a 7-16 season, but provided plenty of basketball entertainment. After an exciting game the crowd packed up and looked for a party.
And as in the past years, Spring brought many new and exciting things besides green grass and nice weather.

For the first time ever Rose sponsored a combination carnival and rock fest which saw Dr. Logan hit the drink and everyone head for the Union when rain prevented the concert from being outdoors. But this didn’t stop the fun.

The Drama Club provided excellent entertainment for the year, presenting “The Physicist” and “Mr. Roberts.”
Spring sports continued to increase in strength, with three of four sports finishing .500 or better.

The tennis team, hanging on to a .500 season or better for the past couple years, finished this year at 4-4. They also made their best showing ever in Little State, bringing back three medals.

The golf team continued to dominate its opponents, posting an 8-1 season. They also placed fourth in the N.A.I.A. district tournament in a field of 16.

Playing a very tough schedule, the baseball team finished 8-12. This included a very loud and enthusiastic game with Indiana State.

With a very large number of junior distance runners the Rose thinclads were awesome while compiling a 10-2 record. This included winning the Earlham Relays and placing very high in the Little State.

Perhaps the most exciting moment in our junior year was the honest-to-goodness bomb scare. Classes were actually called off for the day Friday, May 12 as State Police searched the Main Building. But this didn’t stop diehards like Prof. Palmer from giving a calculus test out on the lawn.

Greek Weekend was a spring highlight. A warm weekend was the setting for the fierce competition which saw LXA & ATO tie in the afternoon session and LXA take the songfest that evening.

Perhaps the most noteworthy event was Rose-Hulman’s entry into the “500” Festival Parade which captured the Governor’s Trophy. This was hopefully the first of a long line.

As the weather continued to get warmer and finals drew nearer, we gritted our teeth for our last set of spring finals and started thinking of the next and final year at Rose—RICK KEEVEN
The Senior year, one which we at some time or another looked forward to with unbelievable anticipation, is here. But along with the sign up sheets, the job interviews, the offers (better than last year’s seniors), and the new found luxury of becoming “engineers,” most of this class found Rose just as much hard work as it has always been. But, when light appears at the end of the tunnel, the long road seems a short one. The confusion of remaining a Rose student and at the same time beginning to break the mold has made the senior year a fast-paced and exciting one.

Upon returning to “Dear Old Rose” for the autumn of ’72, the buzz of excitement made it clear that something out of the ordinary was in the works. And indeed it was, as Dr. Logan announced the finalizing of plans for the Centennial Fund Campaign which sought to raise $5 million for the construction of a new Learning Resources Center, a new athletic facility designed for intramurals, and general campus improvements. All of this to be geared towards celebrating the one hundredth year since the founding of Rose-Hulman.
The Homecoming celebration was a time of nostalgia, as this year’s senior class recalled bonfires of years past and wondered what it would be like returning as alumni. With the excitement generated by the crowning of pretty Miss Penny Brown as queen and the Homecoming game against Illinois College, the stage was set for “Your Father’s Mustache” to complete the mood of this year’s Roaring Twenties theme.
The football team finished its season even at 5-5, but that wasn’t the whole story as Rose staged a major upset in downing previously unbeaten and nationally-ranked Illinois Benedictine 18-17, through last second heroics of seniors Rick Manuszak, Bill Randall, Kevin Murphy, Jerry DeMeyer and many others.

We’d be remiss if we didn’t mention the other seniors on the squad whose four years of service raised Rose football to its present level of respectability. This list includes Dick Frushour, Ray Kominiarek, Mark Gudorf, Jim Hastings, Woody Heller, Brennan Bannion, Joe Zumar and Jerry Bertram.

The cross country team fared well behind such veterans as seniors Steve White, Tom Hans, Chuck Epstein, Cecil Whitaker and Rick Keever. The team was 3-4 for the season and finished fifth in the Little State--best in Rose history.
Even the basketball team, although finishing a disappointing 7-17, kept alive the spirit of sportsmanship with the keen desire to win that has traditionally pulled all the athletic teams together at Rose-Hulman. The team was led by four-year veterans Gary Dougan, Mike Bennett and Joe Snyder. Dougan was MVP for a second year and became the fourth all-time leading scorer at Rose.

Bolstered by now fewer than eleven members of the Class of 1973, the track and field team posted what is believed to be the only undefeated track team in the history of the school. The team was 11-0 in dual and triangular competition and set eight school records--half of them by four-year seniors.

Ernie Jones, the Blanket Award winner for the most outstanding contribution for four years of athletics, again was the leading scorer and MVP. Record holders Steve White, Tom Hans and Joe Zumar and regulars Dave Greene, Chuck Epstein, Gary Kelm, Randy Robertson, Chuck Moseman, Jerry DeMeyer and Bill Thaler rounded out the senior contingent which saw Rose track post a 30-5 cumulative record during their sophomore, junior and senior years.

Golf and tennis were right on the heels of the track squad, finishing 8-1 and 5-3 respectively. Seniors included Jim Story (golf) and Rick Keven (tennis).

Although finishing 4-12, the baseball team warmed up when the rain stopped and the sun came out for the finale against Butler (a decisive 11-2 victory!) Seniors on the team were Doug Kneller, Rick Manuszak, Rick Henthorn, Kevin Murphy, Joe Bubenzer and Larry Erwin.
As winter turned into spring, and the long nights of camping out in front of the Ad Building began to bear fruit in the form of plant trips, many of the seniors got together to show the school and the Terre Haute area just what they had learned in four years. Engineer's Day was again a success due to the diligent planning and work of Bob Connon, president of Blue Key Fraternity, and the men of Blue Key who all worked so hard. The concrete canoe built by the Rose ASCE chapter and the funny car displayed by the Racing Association highlighted the event.
The spring quarter, warmer weather, and "senioritis" all worked to take attention away from Rose temporarily, as "hard working" seniors sought to decide on their future, whether it be which job offer, which grad school, which girl, or whatever. The ecstasy of winding down and finishing out was clouded with the hangover of too much work and too much beer, as Senior Kegger, The Fraternity Kegger, the Honorary Kegger, etc., kept the activities-minded men underwater for the rest of May and half of June. But the going up was worth the coming down, as once more the seniors got together and gossiped about Dean Moench's "Engineering" lectures in Freshman Orientation, and just old times in general.

And so a long tale comes to a weary, but happy ending for most of us on graduation day, Friday, May 25, 1973, as we are seated waiting for our diplomas, words from far away echo in our ears..."Look to your left, now look to your right. One of those seats will be empty four years from now on graduation....."---STAN BAKER
Class of '73
Pertinent Facts

The Class of 1973, which entered with a record 373 freshmen, numbered 243 at graduation—largest class in the history of Rose-Hulman.

The Class of 1973 was not only the largest class in history, but was one of the most honored. Gary R. Kelm was graduated with a perfect 4.0 average, becoming only the fourth graduate to earn this distinction.

Twenty-seven were graduated with "high honors" for 3.6 or better averages, while 60 others completed their work with the averages between 3.10 and 3.59. As is typically the case, approximately 85 percent of the class went directly to fulltime employment. Forty went on to graduate school, with an impressive seven of 14 men who applied being accepted for medical school.

The class as a whole was graduated with the highest academic distinction—the cumulative grade point average being a remarkable 2.836 out of a possible 4.0—or almost two-tenths of a point higher than the typical all men's average at Rose.
