Page 3: Pakistan and India
Page 4: Captain Marvel
Page 5: Tesla V1 Model
Page 6: Frankenstein Response
Page 7: Sports!

Controversial Science

Panel Discusses Controversial Topics

- GMOs
- Space Travel
- Artificial Intelligence
- Climate Change

The controversial topics were discussed by experts from various fields, including scientists, philosophers, and ethicists, to explore the ethical implications and societal impacts of these issues.

Page 4: Captain Marvel

Captain Marvel is a superhero in the Marvel Cinematic Universe. The character, played by Brie Larson, is an intergalactic astronaut and war hero who gains superhuman abilities.

Page 6: Frankenstein Response

Frankenstein is a novel by Mary Shelley, which explores themes of creation, responsibility, and the consequences of playing God. The character Victor Frankenstein creates a human being from inanimate matter.

Page 7: Sports!

The page highlights various sports events, including track and field, soccer, and basketball, showcasing the skills and achievements of athletes.

Autonomous Vehicles

Rose Hosts the Autonomous Vehicles Challenge

William Kemp, Business Manager

This past Friday, March 15th, Rose-Hulman hosted the autonomous vehicle challenge. There were eight long track laps in total, two of which were from Rose and the other six were from competitors from around the country. The track was clever shaped, and required each group to go three laps per team, allowing us to see how fast their vehicle completed the circuit.

Dr. Coppinger, a biology professor, introduced the teams. The Rose Hulman’s SWAT team was in first placed by Electric Boogaloo from Pope the first of II High School in second and Deamon the Rouen rose in third. These three of those groups were the only ones who completed the three times without a DNF. The second track was the largest of the three. This time each team only had one try at completing the course and would score a DNF if a wheel was enveloped of the course. The last track was a simple oval which tested the speed of the vehicles. Overall it was a very interesting competition of coding and wit with Rose. Coming out on top.

Close up of an autonomous ve- hicle challenge, competing 3 lines for the 1st place finisher.

Track 1 of the autonomous ve- hicle challenge, competing 3 lines for the 1st place finisher.

Page 5: Tesla V1 Model

The Tesla V1 Model is an electric car produced by Tesla, Inc. It is known for its advanced technology, including autonomous driving capabilities.

Page 7: Sports!

Track and field, soccer, and basketball events are highlighted, showcasing the skills and achievements of athletes.

For more information, please visit the Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology website.
Our Mission Statement:
We are Rose-Hulman’s independent student newspaper. We keep the Rose-Hulman community informed by providing an accurate and dependable source for news and information.

Deb Bima • Editor-in-Chief
William Kemp • Business Manager
William Kemp • News Editor
Don Nadia • World News Editor
Jared Gibson • Entertainment Editor
Harley Hoover • Lifestyle Editor
Aidan Moulder • Opinions Editor
Coleigh Kintner • Sports Editor
Rifolk Subramanyam • Flipside Editor
Derek Huffer • Staff Writer
Mason Diebold • Staff Writer
Joseph Lee • Staff Writer
Andrew Henderson • Staff Writer
Thomas Hall • Staff Writer
Morgan McDougal • Staff Writer
Timothy Wynia • Staff Writer
Lauren Wiseman • Staff Writer
Colin Beach • Staff Writer
Jonathan Kawarski • Staff Writer
Evelyn Maquela • Staff Writer
Thaddeus Hughes • Staff Writer
Dr. Thomas Adams • Faculty Advisor

Submissions:
- Your views and opinions are important to us.
- We welcome a wide variety of submissions, including articles, reviews, poetry, and artwork.
- All submissions must be original and not previously published in any other medium.
- We reserve the right to edit submissions to ensure clarity and adherence to our style guide.
- All future submissions and photos should be submitted electronically using the online form.

5% Percent Discount per ad purchased*

Contact William Kemp—Business Manager
Phone: (502) 724-5388
Email: Thorn-Biz@Rose-Hulman.edu

Limit 5 advertisements, maximum discount 20 percent

Academics
• Mar 20 - Crucial Conversations—Supervisor Cohort—Day 1
• March 20 - Balancing Free Speech and Inclusivity Panel
• Mar 21 - Rose-Hulman Wellness Fair

Sports
• Mar 19 - Fontbonne, Baseball
• Mar 23 - Indiana College Mathematics Competition
• Mar 23 - Track at Washington University Invitational
• Mar 23 - Men’s Golf @ Mount St. Joseph Invitational
• Mar 23 - Men’s Tennis, Coe & Augustana
• Mar 23 - MSOE, Baseball
• Mar 23 - Softball Spalding
• Mar 23 - Carroll, Baseball

Other
• Mar 19 - Academic Affairs March Exchange Gathering
• Mar 19 - Aizu Japan Day
• Mar 19 - Lucky Bingo
• Mar 20 - RTRC Operating Night

The Rose Thorn Advertising
Small Coupon Insert (3 x 4) $45
1/8th Page (6 x 4) $65
Small 1/4th Page (4 x 8) $85
Large 1/4th Page (6 x 8) $130
1/2 Page (10 x 10) $220
Full Page (10 x 21) $450

5% Percent Discount per ad purchased*

Contact William Kemp—Business Manager
Phone: (502) 724-5388
Email: Thorn-Biz@Rose-Hulman.edu

Limit 5 advertisements, maximum discount 20 percent

Riddle of the Week: There are 20 people in an empty, square room. Each person has full sight of the entire room and everyone in it. If you are not allowed to move in any way (other than your eyes), Where can you place an apple so that all but one person can see it?

Come to our C-Think info session on Thursday at 7:30 in M103 for the answer!
For more info contact: hendritc@rose-hulman.edu

Last Week’s Answer: Wholesome

Join the Rose Thorn!
When: Tuesday’s at 5:00 pm
Where: Olin O259
Join us for our Third meeting this Quarter on March 19th!!!
Share your opinions, write an article for next week’s issue, or get the inside scoop on the latest news!

The Rose Thorn
ROSE-HULMAN INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY, 5500 Wabash Ave, CM 5037, Terre Haute, IN 47803

Advertising

¬ The pen is mightier than the sword, join us. Tuesdays at 5:00 in O259.

McDonald’s

Sharp Flats, LLC East
6710 Wabash Avenue
Located @ the first light east of RHIT
Next to Pizza Gallery
Closest off-campus housing!
Efficiencies, studios, 1 & 2 bedrooms
Some or all utilities paid!
sharpflats@gmail.com or (812)877-1146
We also have in-town housing options!
Check out our website at sharpflats.com

Advertise
Your Business
Here

5% Percent Discount per ad purchased*

Contact William Kemp—Business Manager
Phone: (502) 724-5388
Email: Thorn-Biz@Rose-Hulman.edu

Limit 5 advertisements, maximum discount 20 percent

The Rose Thorn Advertising
Small Coupon Insert (3 x 4) $45
1/8th Page (6 x 4) $65
Small 1/4th Page (4 x 8) $85
Large 1/4th Page (6 x 8) $130
1/2 Page (10 x 10) $220
Full Page (10 x 21) $450

5% Percent Discount per ad purchased*

Contact William Kemp—Business Manager
Phone: (502) 724-5388
Email: Thorn-Biz@Rose-Hulman.edu

Limit 5 advertisements, maximum discount 20 percent

Riddle of the Week: There are 20 people in an empty, square room. Each person has full sight of the entire room and everyone in it. If you are not allowed to move in any way (other than your eyes), Where can you place an apple so that all but one person can see it?

Come to our C-Think info session on Thursday at 7:30 in M103 for the answer!
For more info contact: hendritc@rose-hulman.edu

Last Week’s Answer: Wholesome

Join the Rose Thorn!
When: Tuesday’s at 5:00 pm
Where: Olin O259
Join us for our Third meeting this Quarter on March 19th!!!
Share your opinions, write an article for next week’s issue, or get the inside scoop on the latest news!

The Rose Thorn
ROSE-HULMAN INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY, 5500 Wabash Ave, CM 5037, Terre Haute, IN 47803

Advertising

¬ The pen is mightier than the sword, join us. Tuesdays at 5:00 in O259.

McDonald’s
The Un-Common Application

College Admission Scandal Exposes a Network of Fraud

Colin Beuch
Staff Writer

College is just as important to a parent as it is to a student, especially if they are the one paying for it. And this week, it was discovered that some parents were paying for much more than their kid’s tuition.

It begins with the largest college admission scandal ever, where 50 people have been charged with various forms of bribery and fraud. The FBI has taken into custody college coaches, admissions employees, and parents from across the country for their involvement. The so-called mastermind behind the scandal is William Singer, CEO of The Key.

Parents who were concerned that their child could not get into college would contact Singer. Disguised as a donation to Singer’s charity, the parents would pay money for a guaranteed college acceptance. The action taken depended on how much money was given. On many occasions, Singer’s friend Mark Riddell would take entrance exams and standardized tests for students to fake high scores. Other times, Singer would contact a coach willing to accept bribes, who would then put the student on their roster to force an acceptance. This nationwide web of lies extended to top universities like USC, UCLA, Stanford, and even Yale.

Among those charged include celebrities such as Lori Loughlin (actress of Full House) and Felicity Huffman (actress of Desperate Housewives). Loughlin is accused of paying upwards of $500,000 in bribes for her two daughters. Another family is said to have given Singer over $1 million in one payment! At this point in the scandal, it is hard to tell how many of those charged will go to jail. More information is sure to come to light as the FBI continues their investigation. And it probably means more arrests too.

What started as a tip from one parent under separate investigations led to the discovery of a massive network of the fraud. The involved colleges defend themselves as prestigious and high-level education. Their status has now been undermined by those who think they can cheat the system and skip the hard work it takes.

Andrew Henderson
Staff Writer

Late this February, South Asia was once again nearly thrown to the brink of war as the rival countries of India and Pakistan initiated dog fighting and bombing over the air on the Indian border with Pakistan. The crisis started on February 14th, when a suicide attack on an Indian paramilitary convoy killed at least 40 soldiers in Indian controlled Kashmir. A Pakistan militant group, Jaish-e-Mohammed, had previously participated in armed conflict over Kashmir. The liaison officer between Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and the Indian military was killed in the attack. Pakistan denies any involvement; it claimed to have shot down two Indian jets. India denied any involvement.

The states of Pakistan and India have been considered to be one of the most fragile nuclear powers in the world. The nuclear capacities that both South Asian countries possess play a significant role in the region’s diplomacy and security. Both India and Pakistan have been involved in multiple small and large armed conflicts over Kashmir, India-Pakistan border, and other territorial disputes in the region. The tension between Pakistan and India has been escalated by the recent attacks and counter-attacks that have taken place. The region has seen a rise in military activities and confrontations in recent years, indicating an increase in tension between the two countries. The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) has expressed concern over the situation, warning that the region could be at risk of nuclear proliferation.

The recent tension and military activities in the region have raised concerns about the possibility of a nuclear confrontation between India and Pakistan. The possibility of a nuclear weapons conflict in South Asia remains a significant threat to regional and international security. The tensions in South Asia highlight the need for diplomatic efforts and peaceful resolution to resolving the long-standing territorial disputes and grievances.

Tensions Rise in South Asia

Pakistan-India Conflict Reaches New Heights

Photo Courtesy of Atlantic Council

Tensions have further escalated in the region, with both India and Pakistan accusing each other of violating their territorial waters. The recent attacks and counter-attacks have raised concerns about the possibility of a nuclear confrontation between India and Pakistan. The possibility of a nuclear weapons conflict in South Asia remains a significant threat to regional and international security. The tensions in South Asia highlight the need for diplomatic efforts and peaceful resolution to resolving the long-standing territorial disputes and grievances.
Watchmen: The Ultimate Cut

Have the last ten years been kind to Zack Snyder’s first superhero movie?

Lauren Wiseman

Staff Writer

In the age of the superhero movie boom, it’s easy to forget that Marvel has dominated the playing field for almost a decade. But DC is still struggling with its hit-or-miss DC Extended Universe. However, in 2009, DC leveled the playing field for but a moment: a violent, controversial adaptation of a pivotal, controversial graphic novel. Before Zack Snyder was the director responsible for the 2011 adaptation of Watchmen, he helped do the same thing with Larson waking up for morning, but the first few minutes of Captain Marvel had become a bit formulaic. Movies, Marvel veteran Samuel Jackson reprising his role with Nick Fury, played by Marvel veteran Robert Downey Jr., was certainly one of the most ambitious origin stories Marvel has attempted, and while it has plenty going for it for there’s core issues that it fails from being great.

Not So Marvelous

A Closer Look into Captain Marvel

Jonathan Kowalski

Staff Writer

After the grim tone set by the first few minutes of Captain Marvel, the rest of the movie left me with a feeling of anticlimax. The rest of the movie could have made an effective color palette that made it clear the movie was going for a mood, and while the action was intense and violent, something was missing. Without a doubt, the movie is a step in the right direction for Marvel Cinematic Universe, but I can’t help but feel like this was a step backward.

Whatever you think of Marvel’s formula for origins stories, there are certain elements that make for a successful origin story. The central character must be relatable and vulnerable. The audience must be able to see the growth of the character. And while Captain Marvel does capture Laurie Jupiter in her early days, it’s not entirely clear. I found myself skimming through the opening credits on their own they can help establish its place in the greater Marvel Cinematic Universe.

What do you get when you cross Clark Kent and Bruce Wayne? Dan Dreiberg, probably.

Unfortunately, for the film, every single line of dialogue feels more real than much of Brie Larson’s performance. Of course Larson is clearly capable of more as shown by her 2017 Academy Award for best actress. But as a whole, her performance is clearly hampered by the writing. None of her lines ring true, and when it comes to delivering lines, Larson projects energy and enthusiasm. Larson is one of the few actors that can bring a character to life, but her energy is not enough to make her character convincing. The action was intense and violent, something that makes the character more relatable and vulnerable. The audience can see the growth of the character. And while Captain Marvel does capture Laurie Jupiter in her early days, it’s not entirely clear. I found myself skimming through the opening credits on their own they can help establish its place in the greater Marvel Cinematic Universe.

The film is a step in the right direction for Marvel Cinematic Universe, but I can’t help but feel like this was a step backward.

Feel free to send any question or comments about the content of this page to gibsonja@rose-hulman.edu

---

Image: Courtesy of Fandango.com
Aidan Moulder
Opinions Editor

Last Thursday, Tesla unveiled the Model Y, the newest addition to its small lineup of all-electric vehicles, and with the previous models S, 3, and X, the lineup now spells “Sexy.” They have to have done that on purpose. Regardless, I’m here to talk specifically about the new model. The Model Y is a compact crossover SUV, and has been designed as a smaller companion to the Model X, but built upon the entry-level Model 3. In general, the vehicle looks similar to the Model X, but it has traditional car doors instead of the “falcon-wing” design seen on the X. In addition, the front of the car isn’t flat like the X, and instead has what I would describe as a slight overbite, similar to the Model 3.

This reveal event on Thursday wasn’t simply for showing off a drawing-board concept: Tesla already has the Y’s specifications. When the first models roll off the line in Fall 2020, they will have both rear-wheel drive and all-wheel drive variants, and all models will have range between 230 and 300 miles, with top speeds ranging from 120 to 150 miles per hour. Of course, if you plan on getting the higher-end versions, it’ll cost you, as the Standard model starts at $39,000 and the Performance model is a whopping $60,000. According to Elon Musk, the Model Y will most likely outsell the previous three models combined, despite the price being 10% higher than a comparable Model 3, the company’s entry-level model.

While the Y isn’t set to roll off the line for over a year, prospective buyers can already go to the Tesla website and order one now, as long as they can shell out a $2500 deposit.

DIY Cake-Scented Funfetti Candle

What you’ll need:
- 2 pint-sized (16oz) mason jars
- Pre-waxed wicks
- Hot glue gun
- Pencils, pens, or something similar to hold the wicks in place
- Tape
- 2-3 tablespoons water
- 1-2 tablespoons corn syrup
- A small paintbrush or cloth
- 1/2 cup rainbow jimmies (or similar colorful sprinkles)
- 1 pound soy wax cubes (or old candles if using smaller jars)
- Cupcake scented wax cubes
- Measuring cup with a spout

Directions
1. Use a hot glue gun to attach a wick to the bottom of the jar.
2. Mix together your corn syrup and water in a separate bowl, and coat the inside of the Mason jar with the mixture. A small paintbrush can help you reach the lower parts.
3. While holding the jar horizontally, add a spoonful of sprinkles, and slowly roll the jar around to mix them up inside. Add another spoonful and repeat until the jar is covered completely.
4. Lay a pen or pencil across the tops of the jars and tape the wicks to them to keep the wicks centered.
5. Using a double boiler, or a makeshift one with a pot and heat-proof bowl (you can fill a pot half-full with water, bring to a simmer, and set a metal bowl on top), melt the wax flakes and 3 or 4 of the scent cubes.
6. Pour two cups of melted wax into a measuring cup with a spout. Leave the rest of the melted wax in the bowl over simmering water. Then slowly pour the wax into the jar. Try to pour it directly into the center and away from the sides.
7. Freeze for 3-4 hours until the wax has firmed up, and then your funfetti candle is ready to use!
It's your opinion. Share it!

Email Us: thorn-opinions@rose-hulman.edu

The Importance of Free Information

Marc Schmitt
Editor-in-Chief Emeritus

"Have you seen the latest: Florida's "free market" take on student. "Yeah! Someone tried to eat another person's face. Just like in those crazy, bushy salmon there." No, that's not real. You are forgetting the real hero behind all those wonderful memes, Free- dom of Information (FOIA) laws. Sure, Florida residents may be a little more creative, but the reason we know so much about their crazy, illegal lifestyle in Florida’s stringent, govern- ment transparency laws.

The Florida’s Open Recor- ds law, journalists have been using these laws as a tool to uncover an array of insights about ranking the state as the number one in the nation for transparency. In fact, the Florida open records law is one of the most-often used in the nation. This law is critical to ensuring that the government is held accountable to the public.

Yet, the benefits of FOIA laws also come with a shadow behavior of the state. The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) is the open records law. At the Federal level, the Trump administration has been dug in its pursuit of secrecy. FOIA requests are often ignored or denied. House press briefing, flaunting as it was, is dead, along with many other cases such as daily press briefings at other agencies, in- cluding the Trump State Department.

Trump administration officials stall at even the slightest hint of oversight or public accountability. Despite these repeated at- tempts to redact government secrets, the FOIA has an act as a significant check on government power. FOIA requests have been instrumental in re- porting abuses by the current administration.

Former Environmental Protec- tion Agency Administrator, Scott Pruitt, was shown to have purchased a $43,000 private airplane for his office with taxpayer money, according to documents obtained through a FOIA request. Other individ- uals, aided by more FOIA re- quests, have been able to uncover habits with taxpayer money led to his resignation in July 2018. Beyond the federal govern- ment, FOIA laws continue to expose patterns of abuse of power. In Flint, Mich- igan, a FOIA request by the in- dividuals purposefully skipped testing lead levels and failed to test ing, not residential, to be the culprit behind the so-called lead contami- nation in the water supply. How do we know? We can liter- ally see their discussion in emails obtained through the FOIA laws.

FOIA laws have also been instrumental in exposing sexual misconduct by government offi- cials. Members of Congress, profes- sionals, and everyday Americans can, have had their misconduct revealed through FOIA requests recently. FOIA requests are used for multimillion-dollar settle- ments. These revelations were critical in forcing Congress to reform its sexual harassment guidelines and training. No longer are members of Congress able to use taxpayer money to hide their repugnant behavior. Even more, every year, state legislatures across the country seek to limit the power of FOIA. Sometimes they do so for legiti- mate reasons, such as protecting the businesses and transparency with in- formation. But other times, it’s in the name of protecting national security. However, most at- tempts are made by unscrupu- los individual attempting to move legislatively and get something back into the dark. The transparency of government is just as bad, continuing to un- derfund and understaff offices responsible for fulfilling FOIA requests. Meanwhile, the na- tional security apparatus continues to abuse its classification system to hide their actions from the public.

This past week alone, the Trump administration decided to end the disclosure of civilian deaths due to US drone strikes. This FOIA request will serve as an important tool to gain back that vital information.

It is not all bad news when it comes to the FOIA. President Trump recently signed into law the Bipartisan Open Govern- ment Data Act, which forces the federal government to share data in a machine-readable form. This act will help those looking to hold their govern- ment accountable.

Open information is critical to well-functioning democrac- y. The more transparent and info- mation is made available, the more transparency and account- ability. The FOIA laws have support from a wide variety of political groups to do so if we’re to sup- port these laws and their cham- pions.
Standout Student - Athletes

Ally Bromenschenkel and Ryuji Aoki put Rose-Hulman in the history books by both receiving Academic All-American honors in the same year. Ally Bromenschenkel is only the second women basketball player to receive such a high honor. Ryuji Aoki joins a club of only six men basketball players to receive such an honor.

---

Rhode Island Institute of Technology (RHIT) Baseball

The Rose-Hulman Baseball team won the first game Friday night against Calvin with a score of 3-2. Unfortunately they fell in the second game against Calvin on Saturday with a score of 11-7. Their first game against DePauw on Saturday they won with a score of 10-4. The baseball game is now 6-5 on the season. They play their next home game on Tuesday.

---

Rhode Island Institute of Technology (RHIT) Track & Field

Predicted to Place Number One in HCAC for Men’s and Women’s Track

Rose-Hulman has been predicted to win the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference women’s and men’s outdoor track and field championship this season. The women’s team won their very first outdoor championship last year and hope to continue the tradition. The men’s team has been victorious the past twenty years.

Hosted the Early Bird Invitational

Rose-Hulman Track and Field hosted the Rose-Hulman Early Bird Invitational this Saturday. The event featured nine different teams, and both the women’s and men’s team ran away with first place. The men’s team finished with a score of 215, while the women’s team scored 176.5 points. Rose-Hulman Track and Field will compete next Saturday at the Washington University Invitational.

---

Rhode Island Institute of Technology (RHIT) Baseball

March 19: vs. Fontbonne (Home)
March 23: vs. MSOE (Home)
March 23: vs. Carroll (Home)
March 24: vs. MSOE
March 24: vs. Carroll (Home)
March 30: vs. Mt. St. Joseph (Home)
March 30: vs. Mt. St. Joseph (Home)
April 6: vs. Manchester (Home)
April 6: vs. Manchester (Home)
April 7: @ Wabash
April 9: @ Earlham
April 9: @ Earlham
April 10: @ Chicago
April 11: @ Dominican

---

Rhode Island Institute of Technology (RHIT) Softball

March 23: @ Spalding
March 23: @ Spalding
March 30: vs. Bluffon (Home)
March 30: vs. Bluffon (Home)
April 2: vs. MacMurray (Home)
April 2: vs. MacMurray (Home)
April 6: vs. Defiance (Home)
April 6: vs. Defiance (Home)
April 10: @ Franklin
April 10: @ Franklin
April 12: @ Hanover
April 12: @ Hanover
April 15: vs. Mt. St. Joseph (Home)
April 15: vs. Mt. St. Joseph (Home)
April 20: @ Transylvania
April 20: @ Transylvania

---

Rhode Island Institute of Technology (RHIT) Men’s Tennis

The RHIT men’s tennis team traveled to Eastern Illinois on Sunday. They are currently on 1-7 on the season. RHIT has faced one of the toughest schedules in the nation this season, including three top 25 ranked NCAA Division III teams, two NCAA Division II teams and one NCAA Division I squad.

---

Rhode Island Institute of Technology (RHIT) Track & Field

March 23: Washington University Invitational
March 30: Otterbein Invitational
April 6: DePauw Invitational
April 13: Indiana D-II Championship
April 19: Rose-Hulman Twilight Meet
April 26: HCAC Outdoor Championship
April 27: HCAC Outdoor Championship
May 5: Billy Hayes Invitational
May 10: Herman Dillard Twilight
May 23: NCAA Outdoor Championship
May 24: NCAA Outdoor Championship
May 25: NCAA Outdoor Championship
1. Yee Doggy
2. Gnarly
3. Shred
4. Boss
5. Tubular
6. Bounce
7. Crib
8. RAD
9. Outtie
10. Phat
11. Yo Dawg
12. Capital
13. Happy Cabbage
14. Cat’s Pajamas
15. The Bee’s Knees
16. Rain Napper
17. Swanky
18. Pep
19. Frog Sticks
20. Cruisin’ for a Bruising
21. Pad
22. Far Out
23. Brother
24. Groovy

Wacky Prof Quotes
"Failing a class means something different when you’re a prof."
- Dr. Sid Stamm

"Can I drop this class?"
- Dr. Sid Stamm

“It goes through the look a kajillion times—that’s a technical term.”
- Dr. Joe Eicholz

“At this point in my career I’ve learned to not actually make promises.”
- Dr. Joe Eicholz

“... and the bunnies never die, because they’re amazing.”
- Dr. Torin Greenwood

Did your prof say something hilarious or just great out of context? Did you hear something amusing on your jaunt about the fine halls of this institution? We want to hear about it! Send your quotes with who said it to thorn-flipside@rose-hulman.edu or fill out this nifty google form: https://goo.gl/forms/bB3q9ox6GHbHggYtT

Heard On Campus
I’m making a stripper pole, because stripper poles are expensive.

Fun Fact! Norway has a penguin in the King’s guard. His name is Nils Olav.